JAKKS RESPONDS TO OAKTREE'S CONDITIONAL NON-BINDING EXPRESSION OF INTEREST

MALIBU, CALIFORNIA, October 5, 2011. In response to a letter to Jakks Pacific, Inc. (the "Company") from Oaktree Capital Management, L.P. ("Oaktree") dated September 13, 2011, the Company sent the following letter to Oaktree:

October 5, 2011

VIA E-MAIL AND FEDERAL EXPRESS

Mr. B. James Ford
 Mr. Matthew Wilson
 Oaktree Capital Management, L.P.
 333 South Grand Avenue, 28th floor
 Los Angeles, CA 90071

Gentlemen:

I am writing on behalf of the Board of Directors (the "Board") of JAKKS Pacific, Inc. ("JAKKS" or the "Company") in response to your letter dated September 13, 2011, in which you express interest in discussing a "potential going private transaction at $20.00 per share," subject to your ability to conduct due diligence and raise the necessary debt financing.

Since you first contacted the Company in March 2011, the Board has been engaged in a thorough process in order to carefully and seriously consider your non-binding indication of interest. Among other things, the Company's process has involved multiple meetings of the Board of Directors, numerous discussions and meetings with the Company's outside advisors, and a meeting on May 10, 2011 with you and your advisors in Los Angeles to discuss your interest that I attended with one of our directors and representatives of our outside financial and legal advisors.

After a thorough review of your September 13, 2011 letter with the advice and assistance of its independent financial advisor, Merrill Lynch, Pierce, Fenner & Smith Incorporated, and special counsel, Skadden, Arps, Slate, Meagher & Flom LLP, the Board unanimously has determined that your indication of interest is inadequate and not in the best interests of the Company and its stockholders. The Board unanimously believes that this is not the right time to sell the Company, and that execution of the Company's strategic plan – including potentially transformative projects planned and already underway – will provide significantly greater value to the Company's stockholders.

We believe your intent is clear – Oaktree is attempting to take advantage of current adverse macro-economic conditions in order to buy JAKKS below its intrinsic value. This seems to be consistent with Oaktree's investment strategy, as described in your recent Registration Statement filed with the SEC: "At our core, we are contrarian, value-oriented investors focused on buying securities and companies at prices below their intrinsic value and selling or exiting those investments when they become fairly or fully valued." We are unwilling to deprive our stockholders of the superior value we are confident we can deliver by executing on our strategic plan.

Your Indication of Interest Is Not an “Offer” and Remains Highly Conditional

In our communications with you, the JAKKS Board expressed its belief in and commitment to the Company’s strategic plan, while also reiterating its concerns about the highly conditional nature of your non-binding indication of interest. Although more than six months have elapsed since the Board responded to your initial letter, your current indication of interest remains highly conditional, subject to completion of due diligence (which would allow Oaktree to abandon its interest for any reason or no reason at all) and your ability to raise the necessary debt financing.

The Company Believes its Strategic Plan Will Produce Significantly Greater Value For JAKKS Stockholders Than Your Indication of Interest

This is an exciting time for JAKKS. The Company is in a growth mode that includes several lines of new proprietary products and valuable intellectual property. The Monsuno property is ready for launch as a major televised cartoon series, line of toy products and licensing property, and the Company has entered into key partnerships relating to Monsuno with Nickelodeon, Fremantle, Dentsu and Topps. We believe the Monsuno project and the skill set and key relationships that have been developed to bring it to fruition will lead to similar proprietary projects that should have a positive impact on our share price. In addition, the Company has a number of new and promising proprietary and licensed products, including Baby Watch, Action Cam, Shogami and Winx Club, which could also be transformative and enhance stockholder value. Finally, given its cash position, strong balance sheet and market conditions, the Company believes it is well positioned for continued growth and value creation, including through accretive acquisitions as it has done throughout its history – reinforcing the Board’s judgment that execution of its strategic plan will create significantly greater value for the Company’s stockholders than your indication of interest.

Conclusion

I want to emphasize that the Board is committed to increasing the Company’s value for all of our stockholders and we are confident that our actions will accrue to the benefit of all of our stockholders, including Oaktree.

Sincerely,

/s/ STEPHEN G. BERMAN
